FLAMES DEVOUR OLD BUILDING - The first business building of W. A. McDonald in 1895 burned Monday night. The building estimated to be over 100 years old by John J. McDonald, a partner in the firm of W. A. McDonald and Sons. The building was used as a warehouse and had some marble chips and insulation panels as contents. McDonald estimated the building and contents at $10,000. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

Fire consumes McDonald warehouse at trackside

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Fire claimed the historic Bay St. Louis which was the first business of W. A. McDonald in 1895.
Bay St. Louis Fire Department received a call on the fire at approximately 10 p.m. Monday.
Lt. Richard Pate, Firefighters, Alphonse Sheppard, Keith Starita, Ronald Cuevas and Volunteer Arthur Farve of the department were the first on the scene.
The building, which has been used as storage by W. A. McDonald and Sons for years, "was an old building when my father opened the business," stated

John J. McDonald, a partner in the firm.
One of the reasons for the location was because of delivery by trains. "My dad would receive carloads of feed daily, some big lumber mills would take a whole carload of feed at a time for their oxen teams," commented McDonald.
"We have two oil paintings of the building; I am thankful to have them," allowed McDonald.
Bay St. Louis with two fire trucks and 14 men at the scene, was assisted by Waveland with one truck and about six fireman.

Bay St. Louis policeman Alton Benoit, said "I passed the building about 15 or 20 minutes before the call, there were no flames or smoke visible as I crossed the tracks from Blaize Avenue."
Bay Fire Chief Richard Fayard and Waveland Chief Kenny Fayard were on the scene in addition to numerous Bay St. Louis police directing traffic.
McDonald put a value of about $10,000 on the building and contents. "Of course, you couldn't build the building for that today," he stated.
Cause of the fire is under investigation. There was no electricity in the building. The fire did cause some damage to overhead wires used by the L&N railroad and Western Union.
The site of the building is owned by the railroad.
Railroad officials were notified of the fire and trains were held up until the fire was brought under control. Chief Fayard had the railroad notified because of the proximity of the tracks to the flames and fire hoses crossing the main line.
The biggest concern to fire officials was a bulk petroleum plant about 100 yards from the fire.

Woman stabbed, bruised in Bay beach incident

By EDGAR PEREZ
Bay St. Louis Police this week are looking for a young white male between 16 and 20-years-old in connection with a Monday stabbing incident on the beach at Bay Oaks Street.
Chief Douglas Williams said the youth, when last seen, was wearing a brown leather hat, white tee-shirt and blue jeans.
He is described as having reddish brown hair, being heavily freckled on hands and face, standing some five-feet, five-inches, and being of medium build.

The wanted man is sought in connection with an incident about 3:45 p.m. Monday on the beach in which Karen Steirwald, 22, of New Orleans suffered a knife wound of the hand and bruises about the neck, the chief reported.

Chief Williams said the young woman, who said she was assaulted while in the water, gave the following account of the incident:
"He put a knife to my throat and said, 'Don't move. Don't scream. Just take it easy and you won't get hurt.'"
"I asked him to let me get up and get my towel. After begging, he finally let me up with the knife still at my throat.

"As we walked to my chair, I noticed another boy standing under a pier toward Waveland.

"On my chair, I had a pair of shorts, a towel and a pistol.

"I reached and got the revolver with one hand while I pulled the knife away from my throat toward my waist with the other hand.

"At that point, the boy pulled away, cutting my left hand.

"I pointed the gun at him and he slowly backed away. I kept the gun on him as the other boy pulled up in a new looking, brownish colored 1976 or 1977 Ford LTD.

"I can't say what the other boy looked like," the victim told police.

When last seen the pair was headed north on Beach Boulevard, she said.

Investigating the affair are Assistant Chief Franklin Hess, Patrolmen Larry Ladner and Alton Benoit and Assistant Investigator David Seiler.

Bay police also reported the arrest of Clyde E. Bailey, 32, Gen. Del., Stephen, Ala., and Ronald Moore, 22, also of Alabama.

Bailey allegedly entered the Lil General Food Store on US-90 and deMontluzin Street brandishing a pistol, police said.

Following a call for help from the store, Officer Albert Biehl apprehended the pair a short distance away on US-90.

Biehl said Bailey claimed to be looking for someone who broke out a window of his truck.

Bailey was charged with driving under the influence and carrying a deadly weapon. Moore was charged with public drunk, police said.

Deadline nears to join Kiln water district

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Cleveland Wyatt, president of the Kiln Fire and Water Protection District (KF&WPD), reported Tuesday that progress was made last weekend in securing more members for the district.
"We need only a few more families to reach the quota set by Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) to qualify for the federal grant," commented Wyatt.
Wyatt asks the people of the district to "Sign up if you haven't as yet at the Fire Station on weekends or at the Farm Bureau office during weekdays."
"We got good response last weekend in securing signatures, but, it takes a lot of time to go door to door to talk to each family one by one, Wyatt noted.
"The directors have set a deadline of July 31 and time is getting close."
According to Wyatt, if enough families join and the district becomes a reality, the households which do not sign up before the cut off date may have to pay six times as much to receive the services.
Advertisements placed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors were the "big boost" needed, according to Wyatt.
Volunteers will be calling door to door again this weekend in the district's area, according to Wyatt.

New poison cancer-free?

Mirex hand-out hits 51 tons, ferriamicide issue 'possibility'

By RICH ADAMS
Some 102,000 pounds of mirex, a controversial fire ant bait, were issued free of charge to Hancock County farmers through June, according to County Agent John Smith.
Ferriamicide has been predicted not to cause cancer in test animals, according to recent reports from an independent biological laboratory.
"We were ordered by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to get rid of the mirex by June 30 or we would have to bury what was left," Smith said.
"The 51 tons of mirex were distributed to the farmers on a basis of two pounds per each acre of open land," Smith added.
"Mirex was banned by the EPA because the agency claims it 'lingers in the environment,' and preliminary tests revealed that it might be a 'cancer-causing agent.'"

Waveland man stricken, dies on US-90 West

A Metairie, La., man apparently suffered a fatal heart attack at the wheel of his car Saturday while driving east on US-90 toward Waveland, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Delbert Seay.
Leonard J. Franz, 316 Lake St., who owns a second home in Waveland, after apparently suffering an attack, veered across the highway neutral ground, continued over the service road and came to a halt 150 feet off the opposite side of the highway, police reported.
Deputy Seay stated that a bottle of prescription heart medication was found in the car.
A coroner's jury was held by Coroner Carl Bandieret.
No other cars were involved in the 2 p.m. accident which occurred about 300 yards west of Miller's Store, police said.

Council accepts bid

Sewer cave-in repairs expected this week

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Gregory Constructions Inc., of Gulfport was awarded a contract Monday by Bay St. Louis City Council to repair the intersections of Carroll and Necaise Avenues and North Second and St. George Streets.
Councilmen present were unanimous in accepting the bid. Councilmen Fred Wagner was absent, reportedly ill.
Emergency cave-in repair bids were received by the Council last week and taken under advisement. Four other contractors bid on the projects.
Gregory will perform the job on an hourly basis.
Don Murray, an associate of Broadway and Seal Engineers of Piquette, retained by the city to oversee the repairs, said the Carroll and Necaise project should be started first because the water main and sewer manhole are now partially excavated.
The bid rate by Gregory of $130 per hour was better than the $137.50 per hour bid by Coast Heavy Equipment, according to Murray.
Gregory will not charge for on site equipment not in use, and will allow the city to substitute its own equipment if available, Murray explained.

"A time frame on Carroll is hard to determine - maybe five days or so, once the work gets started," Murray noted on probable completion dates.

In a discussion of the availability of funds to pay for the emergency work, Council agreed to borrow the money or part of it, if necessary funds should not be available.

Mayor Larry Bennett said the funds are not available now, but should be soon.

Bennett said the city has a total of $100,000 for a continuation of sewer system extensions in the annexed area.

An Atlanta spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recommended use of the same engineering firm and contractors as used recently in the annexed area.

He said it would be "easier and quicker" to use contractors familiar with the area and project.

Council agreed the project will be performed by Thomas H. Heard General Contractor, Inc. of Gulfport. Heard agreed to accept the same bid price as offered on the original EPA contract.

The city has accumulated about $100,000 for the project. The monies come from unused funds partly from the governor's discretionary fund grant for the now-canceled US-90-Dunbar Avenue overpass and a balance from the original EPA sewer extension contract.

Council requested a thorough study be made in the area so that as many residences can be given the sewer service as possible.

Privilege tax license fee payment urged

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Businesses operating in the City of Bay St. Louis and in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District are required to purchase a Privilege Tax License according to Mrs. Estelle J. Johnston, tax collector.

"The Bay St. Louis Tax Department is going to make every effort to collect this privilege tax fee," allowed Mrs. Johnston.

The Bay Council agreed to back Mrs. Johnston 100 percent at a June 20 meeting in collecting all monies due the city.

"City police will be going from location to location, checking to insure that businesses operating within the privilege tax law.

"The receipt must be posted for easy viewing," according to Mrs. Johnston.

Penalties for not having such license can be severe, according to the Mississippi Code, Section 27-21-17, which states in part: "Who so ever shall fail to procure the license, therefore, before beginning the business on which a tax is imposed, or who shall fail to renew, will be liable for the amount of tax required and 50 percent penalty."

Mrs. Johnston added, "If any businessman has had any doubts whether he has paid his privilege tax license fee, give me a call at City Hall."

The usual cost for a Bay St. Louis Privilege Tax License is $25.

JULY TERM-Page 6A

Guilty pleas open July Court term

Two defendants charged with felony crimes this week changed earlier pleas of innocent to guilty before the Hancock County Circuit Court.

Judge Floyd Logan is presiding over the current court session which opened Monday.

The Hancock County Grand Jury which was also empaneled Monday, recessed Tuesday until Friday morning.

Sentencing of a 20-year old Bay St. Louis man for attempted kidnapping and rape was deferred Tuesday by Judge Logan pending a pre-sentence investigation by the Mississippi Probation and Parole Office.

Bobby Lee Allgood, who changed an innocent plea to guilty, will be sentenced for the attempted kidnapping and rape of a teen-age girl in July 1977.

He was arrested Sept. 10 by the Waveland Police Department assisted by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Allgood was charged with abducting the girl at gunpoint on July 31 while she was walking in Waveland, driving her from the city, raping her and returning cancer-causing agent on the basis of what Alley calls "preliminary but inconclusive" tests.

"Because of the latest tests, I believe there is a good chance that, when all the results from 'scientifically valid tests' are in, mirex will come up innocent," Alley said.

"A state-owned fire ant bait plant near Prairie, Miss., will make ferriamicide instead of mirex," continued.

"The EPA has granted an emergency permit for ferriamicide, limited to mound-to-mound application," he added.

"Broadcast application is the only way to control fire ants on large acreages. Control is important because this pest is a hazard to agriculture as well as the health and welfare of the citizens of nine southeastern states infested with fire ants," he stated.

Highway Dept. seeks bids on I-10 facility

The Mississippi State Highway Department this week advertised for bids on the Interstate Ten, Highway 607, Hospitality Station in Hancock County.

Bids on the project will be received July 25, according to Jolly P. Mcarty of the State Council of Chambers of Commerce.

"If all goes well, the center may be ready for use by this time next year," Mcarty said.

MUW opens cage season with Tennessee tourney

Mississippi University for Women opens its 1978-79 basketball season Nov. 16-18 when the W squad participates in the Middle Tennessee State University Tipoff Tournament in Murfreesboro.

The November opener is one of three tournaments and 17 regular games announced by Dot Murphy, MUW basketball coach.

The 1978-79 cage schedule has been streamlined, according to Murphy. One tournament and three regular games have been trimmed from last year's basketball menu.

"Three games a week were just too many," for players, when combined with school work and other extra curricular activities, the coach explained.

The first of nine home games for the W will be Dec. 9 against the University of Southern Mississippi.

A highlight of the coming season will be the annual M.U.W. Christmas Invitational Tournament Dec. 14-16, which is expected to draw top-of-the-line teams from across the nation. The W team will also participate in the Mississippi AIAW State Tournament in late February. Mississippi College at Clinton will host the state contest.

Country Church Fair with all trimmings set in Dubuissou

The St. Ann's Catholic Church in the Dubuissou Community is staging its second annual Fair at the West Harrison County Jaycee Ball Park beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and running through Sunday.

Softball tournaments for men and women will be featured during the fair, as well as live country-western and rock music in the afternoons and evenings.

An all-ages talent show will be conducted Saturday and Sunday.

Country store, garage sale, green plants, cactus booths and 15 booths featuring games and prizes will also be featured.

Chicken, fish and sausage plates, red beans plate, all with trimmings, hamburgers, corn dogs and snacks will highlight the food service at the fair.

Beverages offered will include cold beer, soft drinks.

"Prices will be reasonable so you can afford to take the whole family out to eat at the fair," said Chairman Richard Cuevas.

Cuevas noted bingo will be played Saturday and Sunday beginning at 2 p.m.

For further information on the fair, call Cuevas at 255-9597 or W. J. Bradley at 255-7082.

For information on the men's division, softball tourney, call Blue Dubuissou, 452-2638, and on the women's division, call D. J. Dubuissou, 255-1394.

CLAY D. BLAIR

Clay D. Blair, Sr., former resident of Bay St. Louis, died June 30, 1978, at his home in Pompano Beach, Fla., at age 82. Burial was in Coral Gables, Fla.

Blair is survived by his wife, Marie Louise; daughter, Jane, son, Clay Jr.; and several grandchildren.

Upon retiring from Aluminum Company of America, he and Mrs. Blair moved from Bay St. Louis to Florida, where they have since resided.

Active in the field of rural electrification since inception of the program, he served as an REA field representative and worked with the founders of Coast Electric Power Association during its organizational stages. He also authored a brief history of the Association's early years.

Blair was well known in Little Theatre Circles in this area and for his participation in many civic activities.

IDA BURKE

Mrs. Ida Burke, 81, died Saturday, July 8, 1978, at her residence, Miramar Village Nursing Home in Pass Christian.

MICHAEL G. THEVIS

The Federal Bureau of Investigation in Jackson has urged Hancock County residents to be on the lookout for the bureau's latest addition to its "Ten Most Wanted" list.

Michael George Thevis, described as a multimillionaire pornographer with nationwide organized crime connections, has been added to the FBI's most wanted list, according to John T. Kelly, special agent in charge of the Jackson office.

Cuevas VFD
open house

The 23-year-old Cuevas Volunteer Fire Department in West Harrison County, one of the oldest volunteer fire companies in the state, will hold open house Saturday and Sunday.

Wayne Farve, department president, said a flag ceremony will be conducted at 3 p.m. Sunday at the fire house on Menge Avenue north of Bayou Portage. Refreshments will be served, he noted.

The department is equipped with two pumps with tank capacities of 750 and 550 gallons, respectively, in addition to a tanker which holds 1,100 gallons. Mike Gentile, department chief, said the company is currently composed of 33 members.

The membership built the department's fire station, Gentile pointed out.

Mrs. Clarence Randolph has returned from a two month visit with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. George Cox in Del City, Okla., and with her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Edward Randolph in Ardmore, Okla. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Cox who remained for a weekend visit.

Missis Rachelle and Rhonda Farve of Iowa, La., returned home Saturday after a two week visit with their grandmother Mrs. Edna Poolson.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Michel were Misses Florence, Emily and Mae Whittenberg of Algiers, La.; Mrs. Ursula Pitre, his sister; Mrs. Genevieve Maxion and Mrs. Bernadine Langenstein and son, Brother Richard, all of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Waller of Shreveport, La., and Frank Sample of Portland, Ore., have returned home after a weeks visit with their brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Harris Boudreaux and mother Mrs. Clara Sample.

Porno king added to Ten Most Wanted list

Thevis, already serving a federal sentence for interstate transportation in aid of racketeering-arsen and interstate transportation of obscene matter, was awaiting transfer when he escaped from the Floyd County Jail, New Albany, Indiana, in April, 1978, by walking out of a side door unchallenged.

Not considered an escape risk, Thevis allegedly was aided by his girl friend, Pat McLean, and other persons unknown. McLean, the last person to visit Thevis, was arrested as a material witness and later released on bond.

Thevis' arrest record dates back to 1949, mostly on transportation of obscene matter charges. He reportedly built a web of some 238 corporations through which he controlled 40 percent of the country's pornography business.

His real estate and property holdings, including an Atlanta home with over 30,000 square feet of space, are worth more than $100 million.

In May, 1978, the fugitive was indicated by an Indianapolis, Ind., federal grand jury for prison escape.

One month later, he was indicted by an Atlanta federal grand jury for violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Statute which include two murders, three acts of arson, four acts involving obstruction of justice for attempting to kill a government witness, one count of extortion, and one count of mail fraud.

Most of the charges against Thevis stem from his attempts to thwart business competition or government investigation of his activities.

Thevis, known as a lavish spender with a fast-paced lifestyle, is believed to own a villa in a small Greek town and have access to money in overseas locations.

Born on Feb. 25, 1932 (not supported by birth records), Thevis is a 5 foot-10 inch Caucasian with thinning dark brown hair, brown eyes, and weighs 170 pounds. He walks with an occasional limp due to a serious 1974 motorcycle accident and has scars on both legs and a scar on his nose.

Thevis has used Social Security number 266-40-2390, and has no known aliases.

Thevis, who has a violent temper and has been known to carry firearms and explosive devices, should be considered extremely dangerous.

Anyone with information concerning his whereabouts is urged to immediately notify the nearest FBI Office. All replies will be held in strict confidentiality.

GCRL opens oyster study in Pass

Drs. David Cook and Edwin Cake, heads of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's Microbiology and Oyster Biology sections, respectively, will be associate investigators in a viral evaluation of prohibited oyster growing waters in Mississippi.

The principal investigator for the 1978 Sea Grant project is Dr. R.D. Ellender Jr., assistant professor of microbiology, University of Southern Mississippi.

The project will include extraction, concentration, and identification of human enteroviruses, recombination assay of those viruses and fecal coliform analyses of oysters from Graveline Bayou near Gautier.

The results of those analyses will be compared with results from oysters harvested from an open, nonpolluted reef, off Pass Christian.

Dr. Cook and his staff will conduct the fecal coliform analyses and Dr. Cake and his staff will collect the oyster and water samples. John Supan, an Oyster Biology graduate student from the University of Southern Mississippi, is participating in the study.

Because present viral assaying methods are insufficient to determine the level of viral pollution in oysters, health authorities rely on coliform bacteria as indicators of the potential presence of human pathogens.

This study will attempt to improve the reliability of direct viral assays, as well as to assess the coliform assays as an indication of the presence of human enteroviruses in oysters from prohibited growing waters.

Funding for the first year of this two-year project amounts to $28,039, with Sea Grant providing $15,868 and the State of Mississippi $12,171.

Thigpen's feelings on taxes:

They are poppin' it to you

By S. GRADY THIGPEN
THEY ARE POPPIN'
IT TO YOU

Did you ever think about it, that when some new government program is enacted, that it is in reality just another addition to the burdensome taxes you pay?

In 1900 we paid no income tax, no sales tax, no social security tax and ad valorem taxes were low; back then prices on what one bought were low: sugar was five cents per lb., Irish potatoes were fifty cents to $1 bushel, a good meal in a hotel or restaurant fifty cents to $1.

When the government started all kinds of so called programs, and a multitude of give-aways, taxes not only went way up but the prices of everything we buy also went up.

When wages go up, everything we buy automatically goes up. If the railway employees get wage increases, freight rates go up and everybody has to pay for it in extra transportation charges.

When a merchant has increased expenses, higher taxes as an instance, he has to at once raise the prices on what he has for sale. Result: you pay for it.

Thus, when you read in the paper that some new so called program is passed by congress, that means in reality another rise in your taxes and expenses.

What this merry-go-round of higher and higher prices will lead to no one seems to know, but I am afraid that we will have in not too distant future a depression, or panic, that will make the 1930's look like good times.

When your government votes billions for Korea or some other place, they have in reality voted to burden YOU with more taxes. They don't call it a tax to benefit some foreign nation for you to pay for but it is in reality a tax on YOU that they have voted.

Why not ask your man in Congress about it? People were more self reliant back 70 years ago, they knew how to take care of themselves and expected nothing from the government or anyone else. I grew up on a farm in central Mississippi. That farm was a self-sustaining entity - dependent on no one except ourselves. Practically all the food we ate and feed for stock consumed on that farm was produced there.

When cotton got so low in price in 1900, farm income was at an all time low. Cotton sold for as little as $17.50 a bale and to get that much it had to be hauled 20 miles on a wagon to a railroad point.

To show how independent that farm was, I've heard my father say many times that he spent less than $25 in 1900 in stores in one whole year.

Yet we had an abundance of good food to eat. A farmer who did not produce his own food back then was considered shiftless in the area where I lived. "Eating out of paper bags" was the mark of failure. If one wanted to low rate another, he would say, "Why he eats out of a paper bag."

People in the early 1900's had many skills the younger generation does not have. For instance: people produced their own meat, they processed it and knew how to take care of it until it was needed, and they did it without electric refrigerators and home freezers.

The old timers were thrifty - they used the whole hog. They pickled the feet, they processed the chittlins so that this was a delicious dish. They cooked the liver because they knew there was valuable food in this organ though they had never heard of vitamins. The brains mixed with eggs was a real delicacy. The old time women knew how to select the meat to make the best sausage. They used the head, ears, etc. to make soups or hogshead cheese. They trimmed the undesirable fat off to make soap.

As they used to say, "They used everything except the squeal." The men and women of the period around 1898 had many other skills that are being lost to the young people of today.

We have become so dependent on others in so many ways that I often wonder what would happen if for any reason the transportation workers went on strike or if saboteurs blew up the roads, railroads and bridges so that food could not be delivered, or if the revolutionaries who are trying to take over should succeed.

Back in the old days, people did not worry about anything like this because they relied on themselves to take care of themselves.

Growing our own food is not only a safety measure but is economically wise. It saves money on grocery bills, but more important, home grown foods are healthier to eat and they save much on drug and doctor bills. Fresh food right out of the ground or field is vitamin loaded, more nutritious and better tasting.

The food grown at home is pure food - no chemicals in it, no additives, no adulterations, no preservatives, no enrichers - just plain healthy food.

If you read what is on the packages of the food you buy you'll almost surely be amazed to see the many chemicals that are in many foods.

Poisonous sprays were not used on the foods we grew when I was on the farm. A California doctor at a meeting of that state's medical society recently said that he is sure that the number of people poisoned each year by pesticides in foods at least equals the traffic death toll.

Do you know what is the greatest industry in America today? I saw this statement sometime ago: "Agriculture is not America's greatest industry; nor is automobiles or manufacturing. According to figures it is claimed that America's sickness bill is well over $50 billion, an average of $250 per person per year. Can any other industry, even the food industry, top that?"

Apparently recognizing the possible, if not probable, dangers in these uncertain times and realizing that we are vulnerable in our reliance on others for our very existence, the Mormon Church, so I am told, has been urging its people to grow and provide their own foods as much as possible. A lady who belongs to the Mormon Church said: "Our church warns us to grow and to provide all the foods we can on our places and to keep stored in our homes enough food to feed our families for one year."

She said further, "We have in our home two freezers and keep them full and we always have all kinds of food growing in our garden and field. We could live well at our home for an indefinite time if anything should happen."

In these modern days we rely too much on others for our existence. I believe that it is most important that people grow much more of the food we eat and make ourselves independent of so many others.

BAY ST. LOUIS/GULFPORT/JACKSON

ESLIC

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas

How long will it work?

We, like many residents of the City of Bay St. Louis, wonder just how long will our sewer system work?

Consider that there have been to this time 30 cave-ins, according to City Hall, while there had been only one when the Administration took office a year ago.

One wonders just how many more it will take to cause a complete break down of our sewer system?

Talk about a disaster! We would really have one then. There is nothing worse than to have sewerage back up into one's home. It happened recently in Bay St. Louis. It could possibly happen at every residence tied into the system should a major break down occur.

Since all the old septic tanks have been filled up according to regulations, we wonder what would people do?

If many of these cave-ins are in sewer lines, it would seem sand must be getting into the lines.

Soon, the lines may fill up and then where will the sewerage go? There is no other place for it to go, it must back up into our homes.

Now the big question has to be why so many cave-ins throughout the city? No one seems to know the answer. We don't understand why there should be so many cave-ins in just one year's time - something must be wrong.

Everyone you talk to seems to have a different idea about the reason for so many cave-ins. Some say poor workmanship on installation; others blame soil conditions.

While an accumulation of reasons is likely, we feel soil conditions may be the major culprit.

When Bay St. Louis' sewer service was being installed, entire streets caved into sewer line trenches as they were being dug. There were many cave-ins.

On any streets, tree stumps were dug up eight feet and more below the surface of reclaimed swampy areas.

We could talk about possibilities until we were blue in the face but that won't solve the main problem.

Bay St. Louis has a problem-ridden sewer system and it can't be ignored. The Council has made efforts, and continues to make efforts in trying to repair these cave-ins.

The big problem seems to be cave-ins are coming to the surface faster than they can be repaired. The point of no return is going to be reached.

At Tuesday's meeting, Bay Council accepted bids to repair two of the current major cave-ins - at the corner of Carroll and Necaise and North Second and St. George Streets.

It is easy to pay someone to do the job, but the Bay has a big money problem already, so that it is not the answer.

All our efforts should be made by the City Administration and residents as well in procuring funds to continue the proper flow of the city's sewerage before the tide changes and returns it to our homes.

We feel we are closer to an emergency than many people might think, and we hope we never have to deal with such a disaster.

There is only one word to close with, Help!

Dear Sir:

In reading your article about the 4th of July mishap, I was surprised that the paper used poor judgement in writing about the DeHaan accident.

I and many readers believe it was unnecessary to mention that the brother of the boy in this wreck was involved in an accident a week before.

This had nothing to do with the 4th of July mishap or the boy involved.

Your article, though not in words, makes it look like they go about with no regard for the laws of safe driving.

Although all of us at sometime or other break these laws it is not intentional. I have never remembered reading in your paper or any other paper an accident report where the grandparents are mentioned, and their place of business so described, unless it was a high official or a well known personality in the county.

My regrets in having to write this letter to our local paper for their poor judgement in reporting an accident.

Two 16-year-old members of the Fred DeHaan family of Waveland were involved in separate automobile accidents on June 28 and July 4.

The young men are Kevin, 16, who was seriously injured on Waveland's beach Boulevard July 4, and Keith, also 16, who escaped injury in a US-90 collision June 28.

There is no relationship between the two accidents, and the Echo regrets any false implications which may have been drawn from the reporting of both accidents in the same story.

FIREMEN FIGHT MONDAY NIGHT'S WAREHOUSE BLAZE

Union heads meet with Mayor Longo

Andrews Wilkinson, president of Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers, and Judy Barrett, president, Bay St. Louis Local, Mississippi Association of Educators, met with Waveland Mayor John Longo to discuss the appointment of a new school board member to fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Ms. Jean Townsend.

The main concern expressed by teacher representatives a concern that the new school board member be conversant with school needs.

Longo has met with Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett about the school board appointment. According to law, the Bay St. Louis City Council has the power to appoint a successor to Ms. Townsend to serve until the first Saturday in March, 1979, when the school board must hold an election to fill the seat which will run until March, 1980.

"The indication from Bay St. Louis is that they will appoint a person recommended by Waveland's Council," stated Longo Thursday.

"The situation of two municipalities—Bay St. Louis and Waveland—being in the same school district is unique and the law is unfair to Waveland," Longo said.

"I am sure that we could sit down with State Representative J.P. Comprea and State Senator Martin Smith and get it updated," Longo added.

Allgood will remain under bond pending sentencing.

Donna Dixon, 31, a part-owner of the Sip and Taste lounge here changed her plea Monday from not guilty to guilty on a manslaughter charge in connection with the 1977 fatal shooting of Joseph Downey, 48.

She was given a five-year suspended sentence plus a $500 fine by Judge Logan.

When the incident occurred, the lounge operator told police she was outside watching a fight when someone knocked her down and she accidentally fired the revolver that killed Downey, who was also a spectator.

Judge Logan sentenced her to five years in prison, suspended; a $500 fine and then ordered that she be placed on three years probation.

A Waveland school teacher has been named foreman and four other teachers are members of the 18-member grand jury impaneled Monday.

George S. Allison was designated by Judge Logan to head the panel.

Other grand jurors are: Joseph P. Chiniche, Leonard J. Metzler, Florence S. Bennett, Joan A. McAlister, Marie A. Wallace, Viridie Harmon, Jewell Anderson, Polly A. Boxwell, Leon Prater, Robert T. Cuevas, Mrs. Margaret A. Amann, Essie M. Gerideau, Roy Michael Cave, Mrs. Carl J. Moran, Cleveland N. Williams, Shirley K. Jackson, and Mrs. Leo Garriga.

Jackson, Williams, Moran and Cave are teachers.

The jury is scheduled to consider the case of Charles Edward "Chuck" Depreo, 18, who has been charged with capital murder in the April 8 death of Janice C. Ladner of Kiln and aggravated assault on her six-year-old daughter Joy Lynn, who later recovered from a gunshot wound.

Mrs. Ladner was an elementary school teacher in the Bay-Waveland Municipal Separate School District.

Depreo was arrested April 22 at Portsmouth, Va., and was returned to Mississippi. He has since been confined under heavy security at an undisclosed place. He was bound over to the July grand jury May 9.

The capital murder charge against Depreo includes the charge of arson of Mrs. Ladner's home.

Attorney Michael Haas, representing Burk and Associates Engineers asked if Council were going to meet with him and his clients as the recess meeting drew to a close.

Councilmen President James Thriffley told the attorney, "We want to meet with you in an official meeting with Mr. (Councilman Fred) Wagner present where we can act, such as next Tuesday."

Councilmen then adjourned, closed its doors to the public, asked media representatives to leave, and began an informal meeting with Haas and other representatives of the engineering firm.

Some previous discussion has been held between the Council and Burk and Associates on billings for services rendered by the firm to the city.

Effects on environment is Save The Bay film

By RICH ADAMS

The newly-elected Save the Bay board of directors plans to make a film or slide presentation depicting harmful after-effects of major industrialization on the ecology of Geismar, La.

The environmentalist group said it will show the film to interested groups, including possibly the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, to point out how industrialization can have adverse effects on a town's ecology.

"There is a limit to how far man can go," said Allen Lowrie of Picaune, newly elected Save the Bay president. "There's legislation in every state in the nation to slow down and control industrial growth," he said.

Lowrie called for volunteers to try to get more publicity and more political action in support of the group.

Cyril Laan, past president of Save the Bay, gave a report on lawsuits the group has pending.

Save the Bay had filed an appeal in a suit against Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission's Permit Board asking for remedification of DuPont's effluent pipeline permit.

The appeal was refused in U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals because the appeal was apparently filed too late.

"We have decided, after polling the board of directors, that we will not appeal again since filing would cost too much," Laan stated.

Save the Bay spent $6,000 on the last public hearing concerning the case, according to Laan.

Lowrie reported on a suit pending against the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers which has been asked to issue a permit to Harrison County to build a railroad bridge over Wolf River in Pass Christian.

"The railroad permit is a very lively case and we have a good chance of winning," reported Lowrie.

"The Corps suggested we take a very narrow view of the bridge," he continued. "They say they will fix up an 'iddy-biddy' bridge without hurting the area, but industrialization might bedeck a whole 24-mile area of wilderness."

"It will be hard for the Corps to get this issue past federal courts without any long term planning," Lowrie added.

"We plan to save our reserve funds and file suit against the Corps as soon as they issue a permit for the bridge," he said.

Save the Bay's next meeting is at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, August 8, at the Pass Christian Library.

EXPORTING COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY

Computer technology was probably born when man found a way to count numbers on something besides his fingers and, since then, the U.S. has become heavily dependent on such "software" for a variety of national security purposes.

For example, the Cyber 76 is a supercomputer that can do five million 15-digit calculations per second. It is also the mainstay of the U.S. nuclear weapon design laboratories and is used for ballistic missile defense research, aerospace system design and other purposes.

Recently, it was widely reported that Control Data Corporation had applied for a license to export this powerful computer to the Soviet Union, where the Russians said they wanted to use it for weather and other meteorological calculations. As my colleague Congressman Robert K. Dornan, R-Calif., pointed out, the risks were simply too great that the Russians would put the computer to use on advanced military projects.

Fortunately, the export license was denied and this incredibly advanced computer was reserved for American use. Unfortunately, the export almost went through before anybody knew about it.

Even the slightest possibility that American technology could be exported to Communist bloc countries without congressional oversight concerns me. As Congressman Dornan said, this country would have no control over how the technology was used; indeed, it might even be used against us in times of armed conflict.

Dornan says the total extent to which strategic U.S. technology has been and is being handed out to hostile countries remains a closely guarded secret. Most times, the transfers never come to light at all.

Of course, many Members of Congress would have no objection to sharing technology that can support basic public health, housing and development of natural resources. But the detailed design and manufacturing technology needed to produce sophisticated military equipment is a different story.

That's why Congressman Dornan has introduced legislation to strengthen the Export Administration Act, which was designed to regulate transfers of technological information. His legislation would provide for greater congressional oversight by requiring that the President disclose to Congress detailed information on such exports, including the national security implications.

It would also initiate a 60-day congressional review period. After suitable review, either house of Congress could act to deny the request.

I support Congressman Dornan's effort because I share his belief that the best way to protect critical strategic technology from use in the military systems of hostile countries is to keep it under U.S. control.

As he said, "Military application of advanced technology is perhaps the only military advantage the United States now has, and we must protect it."

SAFETY CORNER

RECREATIONAL VEHICLE (RV) SAFETY

RV's can be fun. Don't let a mishap spoil that fun. Keep your equipment in good shape. Good tires, brakes, and lights are important to your life. Provide needed power and vehicle size for the trailer being pulled or the camper being carried. Stay on roadways suited to your vehicle and its load. Hold down speed, especially during windy or stormy weather. Use only approved heating and cooking appliances for your RV. Enjoy your vacation.

Caution urged in handling fresh fish in high summer temperatures

Increasing seasonal temperatures combine with an increase in sport and recreational fishing in the waters of Hancock County to produce increased chances of illness from improperly handled seafood.

"Our office has received numerous requests from the public for information on how to freeze and preserve fresh fish," reports Dr. C. David Veal of the Sea Grant Advisory Service in Biloxi. Veal has asked the following information prepared for fishermen and householders handling fresh fish be made available to the public: If you are out to catch fish for food, there are several facts you should know about freezing and keeping fish fresh before serving them.

"Fish begin to deteriorate rapidly after death," says Dr. Veal, and continues to do so until the fish is eaten. Freezing a poor quality fish will not improve its quality. Therefore, it is important to control spoilage before freezing our catches."

The two factors that cause most concern in fresh fish spoilage are bacteria and enzymes. According to Dr. Veal, all fish have bacteria on their skin and gills and in their gut. After the fish dies, the bacteria multiply because the natural functions that keep them in check no longer work.

"Bacteria will multiply faster when the temperature is higher," says Veal. "At temperatures below 32 degrees Fahrenheit, most bacterial growth ceases. But even a few degrees above that will cause bacteria to grow very fast."

Veal suggests the best way to control spoilage is to keep plenty of clean ice handy. "Many experiments have shown that fresh fish hold longer on ice than they do under 32 degrees Fahrenheit."

A sportfisherman should never let his fish lie in the bottom of a boat, fish box, or plastic-lined creel. These hold water, slime, and blood which hasten spoilage. Instead, they should use boxes with drainage or aerated wicker creels. The latter can even be lined with moss. Moss holds much water which evaporates to cool the fish. Grass cannot be substituted for moss because it does not hold water.

"Enzymes are another concern in spoilage," says Veal. "The most important ones are in the fish's gut, in the digestive juices. When the fish dies and its body is no longer protected against these juices, they break down and attack the gut wall. Sometimes they will eat through into the body cavity and attack the body wall."

Enzyme damage can be avoided by cleaning fish immediately after they are caught. This is especially important for those fish that are feeding when they are caught. Cleaning must be done gently, with clean accessories, and with plenty of clean water.

"Once a fish is frozen," states Veal, "two other problems can arise. These are oxidation and dehydration." Oxidation occurs when air reaches the frozen product. The result is rancidity, which causes unpleasant flavors and odors of the product.

Dehydration, or "freezer burn" in its advanced stages, results from improper packaging. It is the drying out of foods after freezing, causing them to become tough and dry. Rancidity also occurs with dehydration.

"Although there are many kinds of storage containers and wraps available to us modern consumers," Veal warns, "they are not all suitable for storing seafood. A saran wrap (polyester, polyvinylidene chloride) or a P. V. C. wrap (polyvinyl chloride) is a very good barrier to oxygen. However, these plastic wraps should be used as a sole means of protection only when the fish is to be stored for a short period of time."

Veal stresses the importance of a tight fitting package, so that air will not get inside to spoil the fish. The following steps should be taken:

1. Lay out a sheet of saran or P.V.C. wrap at least four inches longer than the dressed fish. Place the fish lengthwise on the wrap. Fold the wrap into the belly cavity, forcing all the air out.

2. Complete the wrap around the fish and force the air out of the package. Fold in the ends.

3. Overwrap with freezer paper, shiny side inside.

"As far as temperatures go, says Veal, the colder, the better. Even at 15 degrees Fahrenheit, fish will suffer a significant quality loss over a two week period. A home freezer should be on lowest possible setting (usually -4 degrees Fahrenheit) to help fish retain its quality longer. Of course, large freezer, loads should be avoided, and fish should not be stacked on top of each other in the freezer while freezing."

Veal describes an effective method of retarding rancidity in oily fish products, such as mullet and Spanish and king mackerel. This is the application of ascorbic acid (Vitamin C). Ascorbic acid is widely available through drug stores and scientific supply companies. This method will allow a storage life of up to two weeks.

The directions Veal gives are: "Mix three ounces of commercial powdered ascorbic acid to one gallon of cold water (preferably iced), which gives a two percent concentration for a stock solution. The mixing and dipping containers should be plastic, enamelware, stainless steel, or aluminum."

"Next, add two quarts of the two percent stock solution to two quarts of cold water. Use this one percent solution for dipping. The dipping container should be a flat pan which allows the fillets or steaks to be spread out so the solution comes in contact with the entire fish of fish fillet. Dip the fish steaks or fish fillets for 20 seconds."

"After the ascorbic acid dip, the treated fillets should be quickly wrapped, packaged, and frozen. Do not allow them to lie at room temperature for even an hour. Ascorbic acid is unstable in unfrozen fish flesh and, once it becomes inactive, it will no longer protect against rancidity.

"If large quantities of fish are to be dipped, the concentration of acid in the dipping solution will diminish. Replenish your dipping supply by adding directly from the two percent stock solution. In processing large quantities you can make up to five gallons of stock solution at one time, if you keep it well chilled and use it all during a single processing period."

If you wish, you may freeze the oily fish in a block of ascorbic acid. "To do this," explains Veal, "you place the fish in a pan or other container, fill it with ascorbic acid to cover the fish, and freeze it. Although this will prevent rancidity for a long period of time, it is impractical because it takes up too much room in the freezer. And of course, extra loads like this also waste energy."

Non-oily fish do not need treatment with ascorbic acid because they contain no oils to cause rancidity. Therefore, freezing the fish in a block of ice (a container filled with water) will preserve the fish for a long time. But like the ascorbic acid block, this too is impractical.

"Fortunately," says Veal "there is a means of preventing freezer burn in both kinds of fish. This method, using a cornstarch solution, will increase storage life to many months.

"For oily fish, simply dip them in the ascorbic acid and freeze them on a flat tray. When frozen, remove and dip them in the cornstarch solution. This is made up of six tablespoons of cornstarch per gallon of water. It should be heated until it thickens and then cooled.

Dip the frozen fish in this solution, wrap it in freezer wrap, and place it back in the freezer. If the fish piece is large or ragged, dip it twice to make certain the entire piece is glazed. When the fish is thawed for eating later, wash the cornstarch off before cooking it."

There is no need to pretreat non-oily fish with ascorbic acid. They may be treated with only the cornstarch solution and will then keep for a long time. "Simply freeze non-oily fish on a flat tray before dipping them in the cornstarch," says Dr. Veal. "Then follow the same steps for preventing freezer burn in oily fish."

Anyone wishing more detailed information on maintaining a high quality in food fish may contact the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service's Sea Grant Advisory Service in Biloxi.

Bay, Waveland clerks to attend Jackson meet

Bay St. Louis City Clerk Eddie Engelhorn, and Audrey Tilton and Colette Schindler of the Waveland City Clerk's office will attend a summer session, phase II, of the certification training program for clerks in Jackson Friday and Saturday.

The same course will be offered in North Mississippi in Grenada July 21 and 22.

"For this session of the three-year program, a course on municipal law IIA will be taught by Mrs. Sara Galaspy, executive secretary for the Mississippi Municipal Association," announced Dr. Larry Graves, governmental training specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES). Registration fee is $35, which covers all course expenses, but does not include motel, transportation and food costs. This program is accredited by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks (IIMC).

"This training program is only one part of the IIMC and the Mississippi Certification program," explained Dr. Graves. "Successful completion of the three-year course will result in 50 points of credit toward the Certified Municipal Clerk designation awarded by IIMC.

"Successful completion is dependent upon attendance at the training sessions and passing the course examination. Participants not interested in certification may attend individual sessions or courses on an interest basis," added Dr. Graves.

The program is conducted by the MCES Center for Government Technology in cooperation with the Mississippi City Clerks, Assessors and Collectors Association. Partial funding comes under a grant from the Civil Service Commission under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 and is obtained through the Office of Federal-State Programs, Office of the Governor.

All municipal clerks, assessors and collectors and their deputies are encouraged to attend. To preregister or for additional details, contact Dr. Larry Graves, Center for Government Technology, P.O. Box 5406, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

Diamondhead tops Hancock-Harrison League

Ten straight wins after three early season losses lifted the Diamondhead Little League baseball team to the top notch in the Harrison-Hancock Little League Circuit this season.

Coach Kris Sewell and assistant coach Nick Shey piloted Diamondhead through a double-round, featuring a fundamental defense and hard-hitting offense to finish their season with an 11-3 record.

The Diamondhead nine ended the season July 8 by smothering Dublison Community 19-5.

The Harrison-Hancock League is comprised of teams from Kiln, Dublison, DeLisle, Catahoula, Ladner and Diamondhead.

Treats Don't Have to Be Sweet!

Treats don't have to be too sweet to be neat! When your family is looking for something special to eat or drink, serve them snacks that have lots of fresh fruit taste, but save on the sugar.

Serve frosty drinks made with new Low Sugar Spreads containing half the sugars of regular preserves and jellies. You can spread the Spreads on everyone's favorite breads and rolls, of course, as you would regular preserves and jellies, but you can also make all sorts of festive drinks and happy snacks, without adding lots of extra sugar.

For a hearty fruit drink, try a Sparkling Fruit Nog, a recipe winner for two thirsty kids. Bring out the blender and combine 2 eggs, 1/2 cup milk and 3/4 cup Low Sugar Spread-use your favorite flavor-and blend until well mixed. Chill and pour into 8-ounce glasses. Fill with half the sugars of regular jellies to the top with your favorite preserves and jellies. About a 1/2 cup cold club soda or ginger ale.

This recipe and more are available along with some stamped business-size super-brunch ideas in a new envelope to: Low Sugar Spread, Smucker's Low Sugar Spread, All Strawberry Lane, Orrville, Ohio 44667.

Smucker's Low Sugar Spreads available in the regular jam and jelly section of your supermarket, in kids' bring out the blender and combine 2 eggs, 1/2 cup milk and 3/4 cup Low Sugar Spread-use your favorite flavor-and blend until well mixed. Chill and pour into 8-ounce glasses. Fill with half the sugars of regular jellies to the top with your favorite preserves and jellies. About a 1/2 cup cold club soda or ginger ale.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

By SHERRY PRICE

Bicycles are now an added facility at Buccaneer State Park. For $1 per hour one can rent these two wheelers and enjoy a leisurely ride—men's and ladies' styles are available.

A reminder to our readers: that the third annual Buccaneer State Park Youth Fishing Rodeo is close at hand. Saturday, July 29 is the official date, entrants will compete by classes: 5-8yrs., 9-12yrs., 13-15yrs.

Persons having reached their sixteenth birthday are not eligible. Prizes will be awarded by local merchants. Further details will appear next week in this column.

Bay-Waveland residents remember we have community programs available at Buccaneer: Monday and Thursday, 7p.m., ladies exercise; Wednesday, 7p.m., basket class; Friday, 8:30 p.m., movie; Saturday, 11a.m., kids crafts.

Basket classes are instructed by Mrs. Jenny Smith, the materials will cost $1 per participant.

Persons wanting a particular course to be conducted should phone 467-3822 and speak to Sherry Price, recreation supervisor.

Two tennis courts, basketball court, shuffleboard, wading pool, self guide nature trails, picnic pavilions, bicycle rentals and more await you at Buccaneer. Take advantage of our facilities and participate.

WINNERS
Saturday afternoon a shuffleboard tournament was held for those 7-11 years of age. Out of 15 contestants, Shannon Bigner of Albany, La., took first place honors. Shannon is the 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe Bigner. Cathy Ferrier, age 10 placed second. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ferrier, Chalmette, La.

The team of Cathy Ferrier and Dana Yetter came in first in the scavenger hunt. Dana is seven years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Yetter, Chalmette, La.

Placing second was Nancy Caravella, 11, Arable, La., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Caravella and Lisa Frantovich, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frantovich, also of Arable, La.

Guendolyn Grace, 27, Baton Rouge, La. took third and Vickie Bryant, 29, Baton Rouge, placed fourth in the scavenger hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Serpas, Chalmette, La. swept the Adult Shuffleboard Tour-ament held Saturday night. Second honors went to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Yetter, Chalmette, La.

SPECIAL THANKS
Broadmoor Baptist Church, Jackson, presented Sunday Church Service at Buccaneer State Park. The Broadmoor Mission congregation traveled to Waveland participation in one of six different missions being sponsored throughout the summer.

The choir was conducted by Dr. James Tadlock, accompanied by Mrs. Tadlock on the auto harp.

Team organizer for the mission was Mrs. Margie Malpas. Mrs. Malpas stated that the group had previously spent the night at the Seamen's Center in Gulfport where they painted a recreation hall and conducted recreational activities for the seamen.

Other phases of the Broadmoor Baptist Mission are teaching Bible school in the Jackson area, conducting recreational activities for the underprivileged and an arts and crafts week for the underprivileged.

News from the Church of St. Ann

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor, St. Ann's Parish—

"It is a treasure worth revealing. More offered from want of thought. Than from any want of feeling."

Sister Mary Cornelia, M.S.B.T., religious coordinator, has expressed thanks and appreciation to all from St. Ann and St. John's parishes who helped make the religious vacation program a success.

Children participating in the Rosary pageant Friday were Carl Fricke, Wendy Carver, Michelle Boswell, Mary Mayne, Buddy Boswell, Reinecke Davis, Dawn and Gwen Lang, Heidi and Eddie Erskine, Gwen Ladner, Shawn McSweeney, Henry Nixon, John Mayne, Wesley Carver, Billy Boswell, Chad Fricke, Melissa Aime, Randy Shubert, Dwyne Peterson, and Michael Boswell.

Scripture readers for the pantomime were Theresa Peterson, Cathy Curet, Denise Aime, Troy Ladner, Rachel Fricke, Dee Dee Erskine, Darlene Ladner and Gwen Ladner.

The Magnificat was recited by John Erskine, Denise Aime, Gwen Ladner, Gary Fricke, Wayne Fuch and Troy Ladner; hymns were rendered by the entire religious education group. The finger play "I Say My Prayers," was portrayed by preschool children, Pamela Lang, Wade Penton, Shawn Nixon, Wesley Carver, Leslie Aime, Jason Fricke and Marianne Boswell.

Wednesday and Friday the classes attended 9 a.m. Mass celebrated by Father Hayes. Serving as altar boys were Buddy Boswell, Randy Shubert and Billy Boswell.

Lectors at Friday's Mass were Melissa Aime, Dee Dee Erskine and Rachel Fricke and for Sunday's Mass at St. Ann's Denise and Melissa Aime. Lectors were directed by Mrs. Mary Klein.

The Ole Pastor Says

Ours is a strange day! Strange attitudes; strange reactions; strange emotional experiences. It is also a day of "easy come, easy go," and professing Christians are caught up in this web of callous indifference.

It is also a time when paradoxes creep easily into the life of a Christian, many times when we are not conscious of them. From a church bulletin we have lifted the following list of indictments that Christians are faced with today:

For essaying "moral" lives with no real love for God. For thinking ourselves to be righteous while despising others. (This is phariseism). For calling Christ "Lord" but living in disobedience to Him.

For light neglect of our most solemn obligations. For not seeing with our eyes or hearing with our ears or understanding with our hearts. For cold hearts toward God and our neighbor.

For quickness to resent and slowness to forgive.

For pettiness and insisting on having our way. For gossip and slander, backbiting, and making trouble.

("For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another" - Gal. 5: 13-16.)

For hoarding what God has loaned us for stewardship. For siding with the world and deserting Christ. For quieting the voice of our conscience.

How many of these have crept stealthily into your life? When did you last inventory your standing with God? — L.S. Walker

Survey shows Americans not exercising enough

A recent Washington Post national telephone survey indicates that thirty percent of Americans are doing more to keep themselves physically fit than they have in the past.

On the opposite side of the coin, 40 percent said they were doing about the same amount of physical exercise and 28 said they were getting less.

Fifty-two percent said they engage in physical sports or exercise in their free time, but 45 percent do not.

"Those figures don't surprise me," commented Casey Conrad, executive director of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports in an interview with the Post.

"Most people just can't seem to manage their lives. Look at the people who smoke. It's the same with exercise. Everybody knows you should do it, but they won't. If people don't want to accept it, in our way of life they can be as fat and as out of shape as they want."

"The people I know who do less are fairly fixed in their habits," said sports psychologist Thomas Tutko of San Jose State University. "They've been smoking or overeating all their lives, and it's difficult to get out of those patterns."

On the positive side of the physical fitness trends, cardiovascular disease has declined, according to Dr. Samuel Fox, a Georgetown University cardiologist and member of the President's Council.

"Studies are showing that more middle-aged people are stopping smoking, losing weight, and exercising, and that considerable numbers of people are cutting out saturated fats."

Tutko adds, "The people who are doing more have a variety of reasons. They feel good just because they're doing something for themselves. It's very therapeutic. Healthier, fitter bodies also."

WILLIAMS ATTENDS
Bay St. Louis Junior High School Coach Cleveland Williams recently attended a University of Southern Mississippi seminar on athletic administration and coaching. The seminar covered such areas as the role of women in athletics and the legal aspects of coaching. The week-long seminar carried three hours graduate credit.

Surprises found among 20 cities

Most environmentalists can guess which U.S. city has the worst air quality.

Los Angeles, famous for its smog, was the easy "winner" in a study published by the Council on Environmental Quality. On 318 days in 1975 — the year on which the study was based — its air was "unhealthful," "very unhealthful" or "hazardous." But the list of runners-up contained a few surprises, according to the National Wildlife Federation, which monitors the nation's air pollution in its annual Environmental Quality Index report.

The next-worst cities, and the number of days on which their air was "unhealthful" or worse were: Denver, 177; Albuquerque, 150; Philadelphia, 150; New York-New Jersey Metropolitan Area, 149; Boston, 147; Houston, 141; St. Louis, 140; San Francisco, 127; Spokane, Wash., 126; Phoenix, 118; Fairbanks, Alaska, and District of Columbia, 90; Sacramento, Cal., 88; Louisville, Ky., 72; Steubenville, Ohio, 60; Cincinnati, 51; Omaha, 40; Memphis, 38; and Wichita, Kas., 25.

Two of the nation's industrial giants, Chicago and Detroit, failed to make the list.

Financing is assured for Social Security

The social security system is assured sufficient income into the 21st century, a social security representative said recently.

The additional income provided by 1977 legislation virtually eliminates the financial problems faced by social security during the past few years.

At the same time, the additional cost to most workers will be moderate. For example, under the old law, a worker with 1978 average earnings of $10,800 would have paid taxes of $1,201 in 1987 on average earnings estimated to rise to $18,600 by that year. Instead, under the new law, his 1987 tax will be only $1,311, an increase of only $110 for the year over what he would have paid under the old law. This is about $2.50 more a week.

The first year the social security tax rate will be higher under the new law is 1979. The 1979 tax rate for employers and employees each will rise to 6.13 percent from 6.05 percent. The rate will increase in steps until it reaches 7.65 percent in 1990 and after. Under the old law it was scheduled to increase to 7.45 percent in 2011 and after.

Under the new law, as under the old, the maximum yearly earnings subject to the social security tax will rise. The 1979 maximum will be $22,900 instead of $18,900. Additional increases are scheduled until the maximum reaches $29,700 in 1981 under the new law, instead of $21,900 under the old law. After 1981 the maximum will increase automatically as average earnings rise, as it does now.

The 1978 tax rate is 6.05 percent, the same as it would have been under the old law.

A worker who has average earnings, about $10,000 in 1977, will pay total social security taxes of $605 in 1978, the same amount payable under the old law. A worker earning $17,700 or more in 1978 will pay a total of $1,071.

Under the old law the self-employment tax rate of 8.10 percent for 1978 was scheduled to rise to 8.35 percent in 1981. Under the new law it will be 9.30 percent in 1981. Additional increases are scheduled until the rate reaches 10.75 percent in 1990 and after.

People interested in more information about these changes in the social security law, as well as others that were made, can get more information at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

NED HEATH Former resident promoted by Marriott

Ned Heath, former, Bay St. Louis resident, has been named promotions manager for the Marriott's Great America entertainment center in Santa Clara, Calif. Heath joined Great America with seven years of experience in the theme park industry at Disney World in Orlando, Fla. He is now responsible for the Santa Clara park's promotions program. His duties include implementing major promotions with the media and major retail store outlets as well as promoting special events throughout the season. At Disney World, Heath worked as a supervisor of finance and a supervisor of regional marketing before attaining his most recent position there as national marketing representative. In that job, Heath coordinated the Disney World and Eastern Airlines joint promotional campaigns in major eastern U.S. markets.

Heath was born in New Orleans and raised in Bay St. Louis. He presently resides in Santa Clara. His hobbies include golf, tennis and sailing. Heath attended Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge and graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

questions and answers

Q. My next-door neighbor told me that SSI payments are going up this year. What will the new payment amounts be?

A. Effective July 1978, the basic monthly Federal SSI payments are $189.40 for an individual and $284.10 for a couple, up from $177.80 and $266.70, respectively. The basic Federal payments increase whenever there is an automatic cost-of-living raise in social security cash benefits. SSI payments go up by the same percentage as the increase in social security benefits.

Q. Does a child have to meet the same definition of "disabled" as an adult to get SSI payments? My 14-year-old son is severely handicapped.

A. A child under 18 may be found disabled with a physical or mental impairment that is expected to last at least 12 months and is comparable in severity to one that would prevent an adult from working. If your son meets this definition, he may be eligible for SSI payments provided he meets the other eligibility requirements. For more information, contact any social security office.

Q. I just enlisted in the Army and will start active duty next month. Will my military service count for social security?

A. Yes. Basic pay received while on active duty (or active duty for training) in the military service in 1957 or later counts toward your social security protection. Also, people on active duty in the military after 1956 get additional earnings credits based on their military pay. Starting with 1978, you get additional earnings credits of $100 for each $300 of your covered annual military wages, up to a maximum credit of $1,200 for the year. More information about earnings credits for military service is available at any social security office.

Monthly social security benefits are not subject to Federal income tax.

Highway funds exhausted, Ole Miss professor warns

Current and potential sources of revenue, as well as trends in cost and economic growth, should be re-examined when Mississippi considers any new highway programs, according to a University of Mississippi business professor.

Unforeseen events beyond the control of state officials have adversely affected current highway plans, says E. Nolan Waller, writing in a recent issue of "Mississippi's Business," a publication of the Ole Miss Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

Spiraling highway construction costs have combined with smaller-than-anticipated increases in gasoline tax revenues to exhaust funds originally intended to build new highways and improve existing ones, wrote Waller, assistant director of the research bureau.

"While costs of highway construction have soared, revenues have not increased nearly so fast, Waller said. "What appeared to be sufficient funding has been exhausted before many badly needed roads could be started."

The state legislature's allocation of additional funds this year for the state highway program provides a boost but not a cure for the program's revenue troubles, Waller said in an interview. During the 1978 session, the legislature passed a law which would divert some of the gasoline sales tax revenues from the general fund to the highway fund, and would refinance outstanding highway department revenue bonds as a method of saving the state some money in the long run.

The new law will provide some help for the highway program, but the net effect will be small, Waller said. "Not enough additional money will be provided to help the highway program greatly."

He attributes revenue problems of the highway program to a drop in the rate of increase of gasoline sales, the major source of highway revenues. For more than 20 years after 1950 the trend had been a steady growth in gasoline sales in the state, he said.

However, in 1973 the rate of increase began to drop and continued to do so through 1975.

Even though taxable gasoline sales increased by more than 5 percent in 1976 and 1977, the rate of increase is still less than that experienced in many earlier years, he said.

"Consumption of gasoline in the state since 1972 has not been as high as the trend of the late 1960s and early 1970s indicated that it could be, Waller wrote.

"If the average rate of increase experienced between 1965 and 1970 had continued through 1975, consumption in 1975 would have been 15 percent greater than it actually was," he added.

The slower rate of increase in gasoline consumption, Waller reported, has meant a slower rate of increase in funds available for highway construction and maintenance. "For instance, he said, in 1974 total revenues from gasoline consumption were up only 3.5 percent over those of the previous year, even though Mississippians had felt a rise in gasoline taxes from eight to nine cents in the middle of 1973.

Along with lower revenues from gasoline sales, the highway program has been hit by escalation costs for highway construction and maintenance, Waller said.

"At the same time revenues were down or increasing at lower rates than may have been anticipated, highway construction costs were spiraling upward," he explained. "The result of this rapid inflation of costs has

Mental health state plan being readied
The FY 1979 Update of the Mississippi State Plan for Comprehensive Mental Health Services is being prepared by the Mississippi State Department of Mental Health for submission to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

The state plan is required by law in order for Mississippi to receive federal mental health funds as provided under Public Law 94-63. Dr. W.L. Jaquith, executive director, Department of Mental Health, advises that copies of the state plan are on file for review by the general public at the Department of Mental Health Library, Room 611, Robert E. Lee State Office Building, Jackson.

In Kenner, he and his wife Karen will assist in local church ministry.

been to reduce greatly the purchasing power of highway revenues, or the amount of roads which can be built with them."

Waller said that increases in highway construction costs diminished the effectiveness of gasoline tax increases in 1970 and 1973. In 1973, for example with the gas tax increase and a rise of 3.9 percent in gasoline sales, the total gasoline tax revenues rose by 9.5 percent. Increases in construction costs that year, however, resulted in a decrease of 0.7 percent in purchasing power for highway programs.

"The gasoline tax rate increases in 1970 and 1973 did little more than keep up with inflation," Waller said. "In fact, the purchasing power of collections in 1975 was less than that of those in 1965, although the figure for the latter years was based upon higher tax rates."

In the article, Waller also commented upon increasing numbers of registered vehicles, licensed drivers and vehicle travel in Mississippi. Statistics from 1975 show that 1.4 million vehicles were registered in Mississippi for an increase of 23 percent since 1970 and 90 percent since 1960. The number of licensed drivers rose by 95 percent between 1960 and 1975, according to the article.

Estimated travel on Mississippi highways, roads and streets was 14.4 billion miles in 1975, up by 23 percent since 1970 and by 46 percent since 1967.

Blood lines connect Hancock with Alabama

By MARGARET GIBBENS
Hancock County
Historical Society

The History of Hancock County is very closely related to that of the State of Alabama.

At the time of the settlement of the Mississippi Valley, settlers came from the east coast territory through Alabama and later settled lower into the counties along the coast.

Historical Societies are receiving requests from persons researching their ancestors here in Hancock County and finding many formerly came from Alabama.

A few of such cases are listed below:

SONES

Benjamin Sones and wife came to Mississippi and lived in Shilohsborough (Bay St. Louis prior to 1868) he was a Clerk of the Court of Hancock County. His wife was Sarah Chinn Sones, born 1837.

Benjamin was believed to be here between 1840 and 1870. The Sones had a home believed to have been sold to a Sarah Folsom in 1849 in Gainsville.

They came from Marion County, where a Sones had a will in 1822.

A Rebecca and Benjamin Sones married in Lumpkin County, South Carolina.

A Bertie in North Carolina, 1752, and Henry in South Carolina in 1800, came to Mississippi about 1813.

Other related lines include steamboat Captain Mitchell possibly of Louisiana.

M.W. "Watty" Espy Jr., P.O. Box 67, Headland, Ala., 36345, would like information re capital punishment in Hancock County.

"Anything that you can turn up will be helpful and greatly appreciated. My task is difficult because the state did not take over the function of executing condemned felons at the State Prison until 1955," Espy said.

Ole Miss names new sports info director

Brooks Tinsley, assistant information director of the Southwest Athletic Conference for the past three years, has been named associate director of sports information at the University of Mississippi. Athletic Director Warner Alford announced Wednesday.

Tinsley, 26, has been responsible for compiling statistical information on each of the nine SWC schools as well as writing news releases and updating press guides. A 1974 graduate of Texas Tech, Tinsley has worked extensively with press relations for the Cotton Bowl, SWC Post-Season Basketball Tournament and other conference championship events. He also assisted in setting up the SWC press tour each year.

Tinsley's duties also included serving as the color analyst on the SWC Basketball Radio Network. He also is an accredited basketball official. The new Ole Miss staff member is a former sports-writer with the Lubbock, Tex. Avalanche-Journal.

Coast Guard alerts boaters to carbon monoxide danger

With the 1978 boating season under way, the U.S. Coast Guard renewed its warnings of the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning on cabin cruisers and houseboats equipped with gasoline engines.

Often, a back current of carbon monoxide-laden air is pulled into a moving boat, the Coast Guard's Office of Boating Safety points out. The office's chief technician, Captain Jack Coulter, says that result can be deadly, and that the onset of carbon monoxide poisoning often is not noticed until the victim is too groggy to recognize the danger.

Upon the slightest smell of exhaust fumes in a cabin, open the forward ports, windows or doors as wide as possible," Coulter advises.

Captain Coulter recommends that boat operators acquaint themselves with the availability of inexpensive, throw-away carbon monoxide indicators.

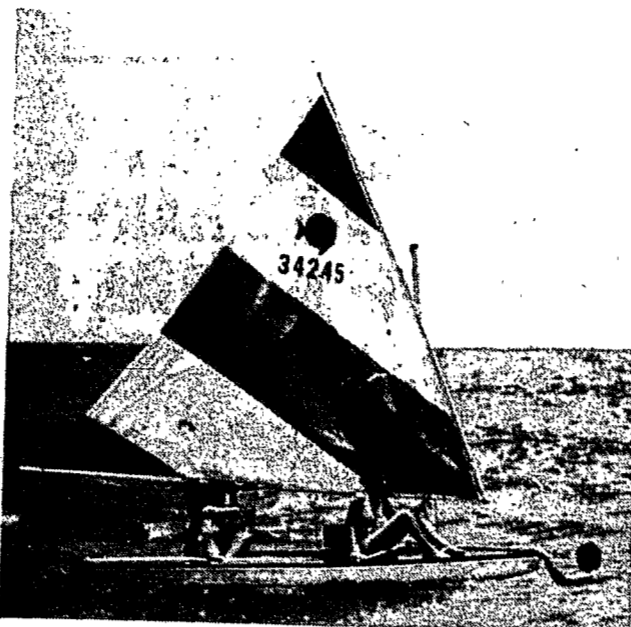

The indicator is a small plastic square with a brownish, coated spot in the center which changes color when exposed to air containing carbon monoxide. The degree of color change depends on the concentration of carbon monoxide.

Although not generally available at marine supply outlets, Coulter says the indicators are routinely used in and around aircraft, and are commonly available at municipal and private airports at prices ranging between $1.50 to $2.

"Indicators are not cures. There is no substitute for alertness," Captain Coulter warns.

But, he suggests, operators of gasoline-powered boats may want to buy several small carbon monoxide indicators at the beginning of each boating season. The indicators usually are good for 3 to 4 weeks of exposure to air, Coulter says, and should be replaced when color changes. He urges users to follow manufacturers' instructions.

Gary Gibson

joins Ole Miss

athletic staff

Gary Gibson has joined the University of Mississippi athletic staff as fulltime academic counselor, athletic director Warner Alford announced Wednesday.

Gibson, 36, comes to Ole Miss from Belmont College in Nashville, where he taught computer science courses, statistics and served on both the athletic and financial aid committees.

Prior to that, the Cleveland, Tenn., native had served as academic coordinator for athletes under Ole Miss coach Steve Sloan at Vanderbilt from 1973-76.

Gibson, whose duties will include counseling and schedule planning for all athletes, as well as keeping tabs on their academic progress, is a 1965 graduate of Tennessee Tech where he majored in math education. He also holds an M.B.A. degree from Florida State University.

Following graduation from Tennessee Tech, which he attended on a golf scholarship, Gibson taught math and coached basketball and golf at Castle Heights Military Academy. His 1968 golf team won the Mid-South championship.

Ole Miss sets challenging 78-79 basketball schedule

The 1978-79 Ole Miss basketball schedule features an ambitious slate of eight non-conference opponents, five of which either advanced to NCAA playoff competition last year or won at least 19 games.

Among those is NCAA third-place finisher Arkansas, which the Rebels are matched against December 19 in Memphis, according to head coach Bob Weltlich.

Opening the season November 14 will be a contest with the Australians, a pre-season affair which will count neither in the standings nor in final statistics.

The 1978-79 Ole Miss basketball schedule, complete with start times for home games, includes:

Nov. 14 - The Australians at Oxford, 7:30 p.m.

Nov. 29 - NC-Charlotte at Charlotte, 7:30 p.m.

MMCC opens 2 Hancock ditches to shrimpers

The Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission opened two large Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company ditches in Hancock County Monday.

The commission voted to open Pipeline Bayou and Pipeline Canal, both of which empty into Heron Bay, after Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Straham, along with state Senator Martin T. Smith of Poplarville, asked the commission to permit the Strahams to catch bait shrimp in the ditches.

The couple own a fishing camp in Hancock County and have caught shrimp in the ditches for the past four years.

Mrs. Straham told the commission she and her husband caught the shrimp in the ditches for personal use.

Commission Chairman Duane Bourgeois of Waveland said he had been under the impression that the commission had decided to open Pipeline, Three Oaks, Campbell and Redfish bayous to shrimping, but the action was not recorded in the minutes of the June 9 meeting, at which Heron Bay was opened.

The commission stated the ditches will be open for shrimp trawling only. Nets are limited to 16 feet and all shrimp caught must meet the maximum count of 68 to the pound.

In other business, the commission delayed, pending further consideration, several proposals concerning the commission's leasing of bottom lands by private individuals and commercial oyster businesses.

Commission J.E. Thomas, who is also chairman of the Oyster Leasing Committee, had recommended approval of two leases which he said met requirements.

The leases involved areas off Waveland.

The commission tabled the applications pending the gathering of more information after Bourgeois and Commissioner L. D. Goldt said the areas sought for leasing included natural reefs.

YES WE CAN...build a new home for you with payments you can afford.

It's true! New home prices are higher this year than last...and the experts are right, they'll be even higher next year. However, in spite of rising costs, Jim Walter continues to custom build homes that most families CAN afford.

Don't wait! Take advantage of this year's savings. Build now and avoid the rising cost of material and labor. Build now! A new, permanent home built on your property, is STILL today's best investment...an investment that will grow in value year after year.

Build now! Jim Walter has a plan to save you hundreds and hundreds of dollars. Here's how it works: We'll custom build your new home to almost any stage...from the "shell" up to 90% complete. We'll finish the outside from the foundation up, including two coats of quality paint. Then, on the inside, you tell us how much to finish. Where we stop is pretty much up to you, but the more of the inside finishing you and your family do, the less your cost will be. YES WE CAN build together...and you'll have a home you can afford.

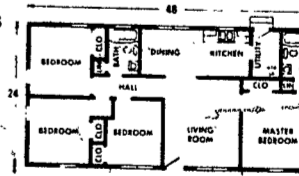

To make it even easier for you to buy your new home, Jim Walter offers one-stop INSTANT mortgage financing to qualified property owners. There's no red tape and no "third party" delays because your Jim Walter representative handles all the details for you. He'll also tell you exactly what your monthly payment will be, before construction begins.

A COMPLETE LINE OF SECOND HOME COTTAGES

More than 20 different models available. Choose the one that's just right for your family.

The LEXINGTON 4 BEDROOMS - 2 BATHS

GET ALL THE FACTS FROM JIM WALTER TODAY! We would like for you to see all of the more than 20 quality-constructed custom-built homes offered by Jim Walter. We would like to tell you the exact cost and what your monthly mortgage payment would be for any of our homes built on your property to whatever stage of inside completion you choose. When you have ALL the facts and figures, we think you'll choose Jim Walter as your builder.

Tuition grants offered to National Guardsmen

The Mississippi Legislature has expanded the National Guard Educational Assistance Program, which provides grants to guardsmen for study at institutions of higher learning or vocational technical schools, according to First Lieutenant Sam Allison of the Bay St. Louis unit.

State share of

USDA allotment is $303,385

Mississippi has been allocated $303,385 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to conduct a new nutrition education and training program.

Nationwide, USDA's Food and Nutrition Service is making a total of $26 million available to states to conduct the program during the 1978 fiscal year, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman said.

"State education agencies are now eligible to receive grants for this program based on a rate of 50 cents for each child enrolled in a school or institution," Assistant Secretary Foreman said.

The nutrition education and training program was enacted into law in November, 1977. Through this program, states will provide children, teachers and school food service personnel with training on the important relationship between nutrition, good food and health.

The Mississippi National Guard Education Assistance Program authorizes persons serving in the Mississippi National Guard to receive tuition assistance while attending institutions of higher learning, junior colleges, or vocational technical schools within the state.

In addition to the $800 annual tuition assistance, Lt. Allison said, a member of the National Guard without prior military service earns from $900 to $1,000 annually during his first few years of service.

The tuition assistance funds may also be used for fees for books and is available only for undergraduate studies.

A new enlistee can join the National Guard at age 17. The enlistee takes basic training for a period up to six months then returns to hometown unit for a weekend drill once a month and two weeks of training in the summer.

Lt. Allison said a young person can join the National Guard, continue his education without a lengthy break and receive benefits under the Educational Assistance Program.

An individual with prior military service can enlist and retain the same rank held while on active duty or as a member of the National Guard.

Lt. Allison said for an active member of the National Guard to apply for the education assistance they must be a resident and qualified elector of the State and not be eligible for any federal veteran education benefits.

Persons interested in the National Guard Educational Assistance Program should visit Pfc. Sgt. Samuel A. Cuevas at the Armory in Bay St. Louis.

Both young men and young women are eligible for enlistment.

HNC places 34 students on 'Distinguished' list

Thad Haskins, principal of Hancock North Central, announced today that 34 of his students have been inducted into The Society of Distinguished American High School Students.

Student inductees are: Todd Ladner, Tammy Cuevas, Paul Cuevas, Kayleen Ladner, Chris Martin, Sandra Ladner, George Scheppegrell and Belinda Cuevas. Lisa Lassabe, Paula Adams, Melonie Lee, Sherrie Lyons, Gina Tamborella, Denette Swilley, Marty Curet and Christina Garcia.

Mona Ladner, Sherrie Ladner, Dean Shaw, Dolly Rester, Vickie Necaise, Robert Shiyon, Barry Argement and Alan Dedeaux.

Jeffrey Necaise, Jessie Draime, Joye Lee, Patricia Anderson, Dinell Burge, Annette Cuevas, Maria Halterlein, Doris Lafontaine, Sharon Necaise and Lisa Walsh.

The Society, which is one of the nation's foremost high school honoraries, inducted the students because of their demonstrated excellence in scholastic leadership and civic achievement, according to Haskins.

The National Awards Program is sponsored by fifty-eight colleges from across the country. Thousands of dollars in scholarship funds from these institutions are made available to Society members each year.

Haskins received a National Appreciation Award from the Society on behalf of the students.

"I am extremely proud of these exceptional students and the honor that they have received. It is a reward and should also be accepted as a challenge to them to continue their course of excellence, he said.

One of the Society's guiding principles is to promote both academic and civic achievement on the high school level by recognizing students in its Membership Registry. The Society of Distinguished American High School Students, which is published annually and distributed nationwide.

Midnight stakeout brings two arrests

Two Pass Christian men were arrested early Monday morning on charges of possessing stolen goods after police there were alerted by an anonymous call.

Donald Sauder and Earl Bradley Jr., both 25, were charged by police after they were seen retrieving allegedly stolen goods from a Pass Christian grocery store parking lot.

The two suspects were arrested after a 41-minute police stakeout of the parking lot.

Pass Police Officer Richard Cox received an anonymous tip on the stolen property late Saturday night, and set up the stakeout with officers Anthony Johnson and John Dubisson.

Shortly after midnight, the two suspects were seen by Pass Police allegedly picking up a stolen fishing rod and reel, a police department spokesman said.

Sauder and Bradley are being held in the Harrison County jail pending arraignment.

SCOUT CAMP

More than 100 Scout Troops from this area will be at Camp Saimen, Slidell, La., and the Saimen Scout Reservation in Hancock County this summer as a part of the year-round camping program of the New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Ole Miss season tickets moving at record rate

Season tickets to the University of Mississippi football games this fall continue to sell at a record pace, according to Ole Miss ticket manager Danny Hooker.

Hooker said last year's season ticket record of 8,000 has already been eclipsed with 11,500 season tickets sold through July 1.

Hooker pointed out that all of Ole Miss' ticket allotment to the Mississippi State game on Nov. 24 has been sold. The entire west side of Hemingway Stadium has already been sold for the Kentucky game on Oct. 13, with only 1,500 tickets left on the east side of the stadium.

The Ole Miss ticket manager said that only 1,500 tickets remain for the season opener with Memphis State on Sept. 8 in Jackson. Tickets are still available for the Tulane game on Nov. 10 and the Southern Mississippi game on Sept. 29.

Hooker reminded Ole Miss fans that mail orders are still being accepted on games with tickets remaining. Tickets won't be sold over the counter until Sept. 1, Hooker said.

"Enthusiasm is running at an all-time high," Hooker said, "and we are deeply appreciative of the great interest of our fans everywhere."

I know no greater Love than that Jesus would lay down His life in our stead.
You know, Beloved, Jesus didn't ask you or me to die the terrible death at the Cross. He didn't ask us to walk the death walk through the streets of Jerusalem, in awkward torture dragging a Cross for others to mock us. He didn't ask for us to be stripped, beaten, and crowned with thorns. He didn't ask us to hang between Heaven and earth for hours while the sun remained merciless. He only asked that we Love and let the light of God shine in our lives.
Jesus was the Victim on a Roman Cross taking our place. Jesus is still mocked by many, yet He's still the one whom the angels of Heaven bow down before. This same One came to be our Redeemer, our Sacrifice, to deliver us from the sentence of death. Yes, He was born to die that we should live. John 3:16-18. Life began at the Cross.
You may think your life is too messed up, your problem too big to take to God, but it isn't. Father is waiting for you with open arms. He doesn't care how dirty your life is, just bring it to Him and He will cleanse you. Jesus can take your sins and deliver you from them. He holds all power in His hands and He will let them go. He holds all power in His hands and He will let them go. He holds all power in His hands and He will let them go.
"But how can I get to Him?"
"Just bring it to Him and He will cleanse you."

Brownbuilder Bill Grubbs is working for you in Mississippi

William B. Grubbs, Jr., born in Kosciusko, is a Mississippi Brownbuilder—one of the men and women of Brown & Root, Inc.—working for you in Mississippi.

Bill signed on with Brown & Root in 1969 as a Laborer and has since risen to Electrical Superintendent. He and his wife, Nancy, have two children, a son and a daughter, and now make their home in Pascagoula. Bill enjoys fishing and golf.

Mississippi Brownbuilders like Bill are working for you and thousands of your neighbors. He's helping to build the hardware, such as oilfields and power plants, which will help insure Mississippi's future growth and prosperity.

Because of Brown & Root's policy of hiring locally first, most of our Brownbuilders here are Mississippi natives or longtime residents. Many of them first joined Brown & Root at project personnel offices near their homes. And, Brown & Root hires and promotes solely on the basis of individual ability and merit. Anyone willing and qualified is eligible to work. That way, local communities, counties and the state get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—hundreds of thousands of dollars in payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes.

SPORTS AWARDS BANQUET - The Elwood Little League of Waveland held its awards banquet at the Coleman Avenue American Legion Hall Saturday night. The All-Stars of the 9 and 10-year old division of the league are currently engaged in a district playoff tourney in D'Iberville, defeating Orange Grove in the first game, 23 to 13. Winning pitcher Jesse Logan was supported by outstanding defensive play on the part of shortstop Charles Burton and first baseman Wayne Karl. The Elwood All-Stars meet D'Iberville All-Stars at 5:30 p.m. tonight at the Little League Park No. 1, D'Iberville. (Photo by Bob Hubbard)

NOT A FISH TALE - Roy Buhr, right, and Rick Fitzsimmons brought home proof of the big one with this 40 pound-four ounce drum last week. Buhr caught the big fish on an outing with Fitzsimmons near the railroad bridge in Bay St. Louis. (Ed Fayard photo).

Red Cross water safety courses offered in Aug.

A red cross cross water safety instructor course, part I and part II, has been scheduled to start August 1 at the Hiller Park pool, Biloxi. Classes will begin at 6 p.m. and the course will run two weeks. First week's classes will begin on Tuesday, and the remainder of the classes will begin on Monday.

Classes are to be taught by Mrs. Wally Johnson, water safety instructor of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of American Red Cross.

Questions regarding the course should be directed to Mrs. Johnson, Box 4514, West Biloxi Station, Biloxi 39511. Interested persons must be at least 17 years of age and

Renee Bourgeois fills PR slot at Mental Health

Bay St. Louis resident Renee Bourgeois has been recently employed by the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center in Gulfport.

In her present position, Miss Bourgeois is a mental health assistant working in the Consultation-Education Unit.

Her job responsibilities include writing articles for public information and helping provide public education program.

Miss Bourgeois, daughter of LTC. and Mrs. Randolph C. Bourgeois, is a recent graduate of Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia. She holds a B.S. degree in social work and plans on beginning work on a masters at USM-Gulf Park in the fall.

We thank the 90 Senior Citizens who participated in our Social Hour held at the Center Monday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Everyone who attended this event enjoyed it very much. Our personal thanks to American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis, who made it possible for the Seniors to increase their chances for winning prizes.

The winners of the prizes were Olga Adams, Mrs. Charles Maumus, Anna Mae Roppolo, Annie Eulzer, Susie Laneaux, Ruth Favre, Vivian Collier, Alice Brignac and John Rayboss.

The Door Prize donated by Scaffie's Wheel Inn Restaurant was won by Birdie Delas.

On behalf of all the Seniors from Hancock County, a special thank you to the following merchants who participated in our July Social Hour, West Brothers Wheel and Tire Service, Linda's Fabric Shop, Bradford's Sea Food Store, Maumes Flower Shop, Rosie's Restaurant, Lil Super Mart, Brewster's Jewelry Store, Jay Heitzmann Music Box, Red Glo Ceramic Shoppe and The Wheel Inn Restaurant.

To the wonderful Seniors, our R.S.V.P. Volunteers who help to make all of our events successful, my personal thanks to the following: Telephone Committee, Mrs. Cecile Galivan, Nina Garner, Lucie Bradt, Harlan Watkins, Maggie Damborino, Anna Marsh and Jewell Stratton; Baking cakes, Bertha Mahan, Anna Marsh, Gertie Fayard and Pansy Bradford; Registration, Jewell Stratton.

Serving refreshments were Ethel Dorman, Georgiana Diebold, Cecile Galivan, Josie Scavo, Jewell Stratton and Audrey Curet, who is not an R.S.V.P. member, but who has been a big help to all of us at the center for all activities.

Thanks to Archie Diebold for coordinating our Social Hour, assisted by two good workers, Les Galivan and Joe Roppolo.

Next big event the Seniors Birthday party, to be held at the center Monday, July 24, at 1:30 p.m.

NUTRITION
A patriotic Day celebration was held at the Seniors Center on Friday, June 30, after the noon luncheon.

The special feature of the day was the appearance of two of our staff members, Susan Krost and Renee Carver, our two firecracker girls. Right on, they wore costumes depicting fire crackers, they gave each senior a simulated miniature fire cracker with candy mints in the hallowed out section of each one.

Entertainment was furnished by our good friend, Louis Burghard, on the piano; who also accompanied yours truly, leading the Seniors in the Signing of The Marine Hymn, Cassons Go Rolling Along, Anchors Aweigh, Air Force Song, Dixie, Battle Hymn of the Republic, and God Bless America.

Seniors, my congratulations to all of you who attended this event. Your singing of these patriotic songs and the expression you put into them showed that you are proud to be a citizen of this country.

Added attraction was Miss Ann Herrington, a new addition to the RSVP Office, who sang "Whiter than snow."

Miss Herrington has a very good voice, and she sang without any background music which is difficult to do. Congratulations Miss Herrington. The program closed with everyone singing The Star Spangled Banner, our National Anthem.

INFORMATION & REFERRAL

This office has moved to the Webb Center on Third Street in Bay St. Louis. Gloria Madere, Edith Chevis, Irma Cuevas, Wilma Miller and the rest of the staff extend an invitation to visit their new location.

If you have a problem relating to the guide lines of this department, the ladies mentioned above will try and help you solve it, to the best of their ability.

Seniors unable to go to the doctor's office on Tuesday, when the Seniors are escorted to Gulfport, can be escorted to the doctor's Offices in Gulfport on an emergency basis only, by calling 467-9291 or 467-9292.

HERE AND THERE

Many of our Seniors will be leaving Hancock County for a visit with their families or will have a relative or friend visiting them. Give us a ring, phone number 467-9292. Let us know about the visitation, so that we may, with your permission, put it in this column.

Esther Cuevas, one of our day care participants, and an active RSVP volunteer, departed to California to visit her daughter. Esther had been looking forward to visiting her daughter for quite some time.

As a gentle reminder Seniors, the Senior Citizens Center in Bay St. Louis is partially funded by The State Dept. of Public Welfare, Hancock County, the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and the United Way.

KILN

The Senior Citizens Club held their Social Hour on Thursday, July 6, 1:30 p.m. at the V.F.W. Hall. The lucky winners who participated in the games were Mrs. Mae Dedeaux, Mabel Depreo, Effie Mazarakis, Emma Necaise, Rena Travirca and Ulan Mauffray.

To the other participants who did not win a prize - don't give up, it may be your turn to win the next time.

Refreshments consisting of cookies and lemonade was served at the conclusion of the social hour.

The next big event will be the Birthday Party and Social Hour to be held at the V.F.W. Hall on Thursday, July 20, at 1:30 p.m.

ILLNESS

Dr. Life has been hospitalized at the V.A. Hospital in Biloxi, Bea Favre has been hospitalized at the University Hospital in Jackson; Raymond Garner, Lillian Harris, Mary Besancon and Myrtle Bouis are hospitalized in Hancock General.

Mrs. Elise McCaleb had been hospitalized but is now recuperating at home.

We hope all of our Seniors who have been hospitalized, or recuperating at home from various illnesses have a speedy recovery.

BEREAVEMENT

We are sorry to hear of the demise of Lucille Hebert and Beatrice Benoit. Our condolences are extended to their families.

BRAVES IN NEW ORLEANS

Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner says he is still considering whether or not he'll move any Atlanta home games to New Orleans next season, a proposal already approved by the National Baseball League. Turner earlier this year "asked Commissioner Bowie Kuhn about playing some 1979 home games in New Orleans

You can do several things this month to save on long distance charges on next month's phone bill:

- Take advantage of the one-minute minimum charge for one-Plus dialed interstate long distance calls. Plan your conversations; you can say a lot in one minute.
- Dial One-Plus long distance calls nights and on weekends when rates are lower. Rates are lowest from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. Sunday through Friday, all day Saturday, and Sunday until 5 p.m.
- You can dial a One-Plus call before 8 a.m. weekdays and talk as long as you like at the low Night Rate.
- Remember that "800" numbers are toll free. You'll find these numbers in your phone book and in advertisements.

ONE-PLUS RATE DISCOUNT PERIODS
	Sun	Mon	Tues	Wed	Thurs	Fri	Sat
11 p.m. to 8 a.m.	Night and Weekend Rate Periods 60% DISCOUNTS
8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
5 p.m. to 11 p.m.	Evening Rate Period: 35% DISCOUNT

One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed calls, operator-handled calls, coin telephone calls, or calls from a hotel or motel.

Discounts apply to:

- total charges on One-Plus calls
- additional minute charges only on operator-assisted calls

Girls attend cage summer camp at USM

The University of Southern Mississippi recently held its fourth annual girls' basketball camp. The camp was split into two sessions, one for junior high athletes and the other for high school round-balls.

The junior high camp, led by Dr. J. Larry Ladner, was sponsored by the USM Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching. Ladner was one of the most successful high school coaches during his 11 years at Piquette High School.

NEW SAINTS
The New Orleans Saints signed 6-4, 225-pound tight end Larry Hardy of Jackson State as a 12th-round draft choice and four free agents in National Football League negotiations: Wednesday, Ernest Tatell, a graduate of a New Orleans high school, left the list of free agents; Defensive end Woodrow Carter of Colorado State, running back Jack Holmes of Texas Southern, and wide receiver Ron George of Tennessee-Martin are the other signees.

Pass downs Long Beach for Babe Ruth crown

The Pass Christian 13-year-old Babe Ruth baseball team went undefeated to capture the District Three championship Monday night as they slipped past the Long Beach nine 6-5.

Both teams will now advance to the overall state tournament beginning Saturday at Orange Grove.

Two teams from each of the three districts and the host Orange Grove squad will make up the field for the seven team double elimination tournament.

In Monday's championship game, Pass Christian took an early 4-0 lead and held it until Long Beach evened it up in the fifth inning with four runs.

Pass went ahead 5-4 in the fifth, but Long Beach turned around in the sixth and tied the score again, 5-5.

The victory came in the bottom of the sixth when Brent Cannon led off for Pass Christian with a single, was sacrificed to second by Ricky Dedeaux, and scored on a single by pitcher Jeff Ulrich.

Ulrich handled the mound for Pass Christian giving up five hits, five walks, and striking out five.

The losing pitcher for Long Beach was Richie Lee.

Ulrich and Cannon each marked up two hits to lead the victors, and Bill Hammock had two hits for Long Beach.
